

COVID-19 and the 2020 Science Fair Update 30th April 2020

Tēnā koutou

The 2020 Central Northland Science and Technology Fair will go ahead in August 2020, but not as you know it!

The committee is closely monitoring the evolving situation with respect to COVID-19 and has decided to run the Science Fair by posting entries online. Details are still to be finalised and revolves around the interest we have from students, schools and how supportive our sponsors are able to be. Joanne our sponsor liaison has been in touch with some sponsors who remain happy to support us this year which is positive news.

We hope to have feedback from the schools next week on 7th May and will be considering how the fair will work. Once we have feedback, our committee will kick into organising mode for the 2020 Science Fair.

We believe hosting with the Science and Technology Fair this year is important and want to continue to encourage and develop future Northland scientists. If you could indicate if you are able to continue your sponsorship with the Fair for 2020, could you please let Joanne know on cnsf.sponsors@gmail.com or 027 224 5807.

Our new website will enable us to continue to update everyone involved with the Science Fair, please have a look www.centralnorthlandsciencefair.co.nz. We will also be keeping the FaceBook page up to date.

The committee will be meeting again in early May – so if you could let Joanne know of your intentions of support for this year by 11th May 2020, that would be appreciated.

If you wish to have a chat with me, I am also available via mobile or email.

Be well, be safe
